

Renewable Energy Sales Representative

Overview

Are you passionate about renewable energy? Do you enjoy introducing family and friends to new ideas and getting them to think differently? Renewable energy sales representatives do that on a daily basis. This is an ideal position for anyone with a knack for sales and a passion for new technology.

Roles and Responsibilities

You will be building close relationships with clients and offering different renewable energy options for homes and businesses. You will need to have a solid understanding of rebate guidelines and incentives and be up-to-date on all the latest products in the industry. Good customer service and administrative skills are essential.

Skills: Communication, Organization, Critical Thinking, Interpersonal, Leader, Problem Solver, Collaborator, Customer Service

Personal Interests: Sales, Business, Socializing, Social Networking, Policy, Reading, Development Entrepreneurship, International

Work Environment: Roaming, Office, Travel

Education and Experience: Experience in sales or customer service is usually required. An educational background in environmental studies or communications may be useful.

Salary: $35,000-$50,000